Discus Throw Women - Winner+Diamond winner

I needed some time to get in the rhythm since I was a liitle tired with my home meet in Zagreb just a couple of days ago. It was important for me to win there, but actually I love winning here in Brussels too. I won my first Diamond League here in 2010, and then a couple of diamonds more. I should hire a safe safe in the bank at home.

I'm not really happy with my performance. My throws were consistent ... but I didn't reach the level that I wanted.

After the WC I didn't train any more. All I need now is holidays and next year I'll be back.

This was my first DL win. There were two competitions going on tonight (DL win and DR win, red) and I won the event so I am really satisfied. Very good finish of my season. A season I was really satisfied with. Only thing I would change would be my fourth place at the worlds [laughs]. But overall, my consistency was a lot better and hopefully I can go on like this going into the Olympic year.

You try to plan your season the best you can and you never know how it will go. I won the world championship and now I win the Diamond League. That's fantastic.

It's been the whole year a close competition between me and David Storl. Also today I had to wait for David's last throw to be sure that I won the title. I'm really happy.

Je suis bien heureux avec ma 5eme place et surtout avec mon chrono de 46.34. C'est mon 2eme chrono de tous les temps. Tres bien, surtout parce que c'est la fin de saison. Chouette ambiance ici, heureusement, javais encore un couloir 9 devant moi. Sinon j'aurais risque de depasser moi meme au debut a cause des applaudissements.

Of course I'm disappointed since this is the second year in a row I miss out on the final victory in the Diamond League. Last year it was a close fight, this year too I missed the victory by 26 centimeters. After three attempts I was still ahead of Kovacs, but I knew I had to do better. And I had one real good attempt, but I stepped over the ring. Now I hope to get rid of a chronic inflammation in my knee.

Even if I got beaten in the last metres I'm happy with this result, because I've been suffering from a hamstring injury all seaon long. Ik zat eigenlijk goed op schema om rond mij PR te lopen, maar op het einde zat ik volledig kapot. Ik was best tevreden geweest met een tijd van 3.36 ... maar dat zat er vandaag niet in. Iedereen praat alsmaar over het Belgisch Rekord, maar eerlijk gezegd lig ik daar niet wakker van. Als de tijd rijp is, dan komt dat wel. Over het algemeen ben ik heel tevreden over mijn seizoen, ook al zat er op de 1500m geen echte toptijd in dit jaar. What a fantastic race. The pace maker did a really good job and in the beginning I didn't want to waste too much energie. I felt really good and to be able to beat my PB, the national record and the meeting record is just fantastic. I knew that I was in good shape, but tonight everything was perfect. Brussels has a fantastic crowd and the track is also really fast. I'm really happy and next year I will try to do even better.

I was sure that it would be a slow race, that no one would follow the pacemaker, and it happened. Tonight in the final of the Diamond League, everyone wanted to win so everyone were looking at each other. With 200m to go, I took the lead. I had good energy. Only with good tactic you could win the race tonight. I stayed behind and I hit only once, at the right time. Last year I ran here 1000m Polish record, so Brussels is good for me.

I don't travel to Italy. At the end of his talk Gatlin suggested some innovative ideas to the new IAAF president Seb Coe. I was told that Willie Banks invented the hand clapping here in Brussels, so I wanted to give the audience a good show. But I'm extremely happy with my season: I rate my WC title the highest and then comes my victory in the DL: it proves I'm a consistent jumper.
